

NEW YORK BLOCKS
GO DOWN IN FLAMESBIG FIRE ALONG THE EAST RIVER.

From Avenue A to the Wharves and From Sixty-Eighth to Seventy-Fifth Streets, Nothing Remains But Ashes—Boston Suffers From an Incendiary Blaze.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Fire which started in the Empire Coliseum spread to other buildings this morning, burning the district from Avenue A to the East river and from Sixty-eight to Seventy-fifth. Fifty families are homeless and three persons injured. The loss is half a million dollars.

BOSTON, Mass., May 16.—Shrill cries of "Fire!" startled the spectators at the league baseball park yesterday afternoon, and in a few minutes the "bleachers" were a mass of cracking flames.

The fire thus started spread speedily east and west and before it had been gotten under control ten acres of territory had been burned over and 600 families, comprising 4,000 persons, had been rendered homeless.

A peculiar odor pervades the burned district and it is feared there has been loss of life, but up to midnight no bodies had been recovered.

The third inning of the game had been half finished, and Baltimore was just going to the bat, when the fire was discovered. Immediately there was a scattering of the 3,500 spectators, and while a few men ripped up seats and tried to stamp out the flames, the rest made a rush for the gates. A few buckets of water would at this stage have quenched the fire and prevented the disaster which followed, but there was no water within reach. Almost adjoining the baseball grounds was a populous section devoted to tenements and homes of the poorer class and many small stores of similar character.

One of the streets adjoining the grounds is Berlin street and this fell first victim to the conflagration. On Berlin street about thirty buildings, chiefly small structures, were destroyed, and the fire speedily spread to Tremont street, east and west, eating up many more substantial structures.

Walpole street, which was used as an entrance to the ball grounds, shared the same fate. Calls for assistance were sent to neighboring cities and fire engines and men were hurried in as quickly as possible.

Fully 200 of the homeless are camped out on Hammond park, guarding such property as they had saved, while others are scattered in various directions, many of them having saved nothing but what they could carry in their arms.

Many accidents occurred to firemen and incautious persons who ventured too near the tottering buildings, and the ambulances were kept busy carrying the victims to the hospitals. Three fire engines were destroyed by falling walls and collisions.

The scene in and around the burning district was a heartrending one. Men, women and children were rushing in all directions, carrying bundles of clothing, bedding and other household goods. The women, as they beheld their property reduced to ashes, broke into piteous cries, and on every corner could be seen groups of homeless families standing over their remaining goods. Tremont street for eight or ten blocks was completely blocked with electric cars, fire engines and wagons of all kinds, and it was impossible to move either way. Groans and cries were heard above the din of the whistles and the ringing of bells.

It was a nerve-shaking sight to see aged men and women jumping from the windows. One little baby was thrown to the street by its frantic mother, but happily was caught by a bystander.

The women of the Ruggles Street Baptist church early in the evening organized a relief committee of 100 to scour the burnt district for unfortunates, throwing open the spacious church edifice to the homeless. One result of their work was the gathering in of fifty to seventy-five babies left exposed to the biting night air.

At a special meeting of the aldermen it was voted to request the trustees of the Johnstown flood fund to expend the balance on hand, amounting to several thousand dollars, for the relief of the homeless.

After 6 o'clock, the time for the workshops and business places to close, many pathetic scenes were witnessed, fathers returning to find their homes burned to the ground and no trace of their wives and little ones. Children who had been at work as cash boys and girls in the big dry goods and other stores, were barred out from the streets where they resided, and could find no trace of their parents.

At 5 o'clock the entire block along the west side of Tremont street, from Walpole to Burke, was a mass of flames, which swept across to the opposite side, and soon engulfed the building for four blocks; and by 6 o'clock the conflagration had crossed Tremont to Cabot street and burned Cabot street half way through to Werwick street, and thence north to Burke street, which was the limit of the burned district on the southeast side of the ball grounds.

While the firemen were fighting on this side the fire was spreading from Walpole toward Milford place on the southwest side of the ball grounds, and in half an hour all the buildings in this block were in ruins. The fire burned on until it reached Ruggles street at one point, and consumed the houses on both sides of Chapel street and laid low the structures on Sudbury street. At Ruggles street on the west and Cabot street on the southeast the fire was practically stopped and at 7:30 the fire was under control and in no danger of spreading farther. It is estimated that about 100 buildings have been burned. The total loss is about $1,000,000, with $650,000 insurance. The Boston baseball club is the heaviest loser, about $75,000; insured for $45,000. The city of Boston comes next in the loss of a school house, an engine house, and fire apparatus.

HOW MANY SENATORS WERE GIVEN SUGARS?VOTES ON THE TARIFF UNDER SUSPICION.

Investigation To Be Made of the Extent To Which Influence Was Used by the Trust in Securing Favorable Action—H. C. Lodge Creates a Sensation.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Senator H. C. Lodge, of Massachusetts, introduced a resolution this morning authorizing the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the attempted bribery of senators in connection with the tariff bill, also charges relating to the sugar trust and tariff legislation. The investigation is an indication of the general credence given to the report that the sugar trust has bought favorable action in the senate by big contributions to democratic campaign funds. The democrats in the senate do not take kindly to the action of the republican senatorial caucus of Monday night. A member of the majority of the finance committee said that it was fully expected the caucus would discourage a dilatory policy, but the fact that this policy was indirectly endorsed does not give comfort to the managers of the bill. Before the senate met yesterday there was a conference of a few of the democratic senators. The action of the caucus was looked upon as a challenge and the best means of meeting it were discussed. There has been a revival of the talk of closure; not a general rule, but a rule applicable to this bill alone. A prominent democrat said they could get fifty votes to such a rule fixing a time for taking the vote after reasonable debate. The only obstacle to this procedure would be the almost endless debate that would follow the introduction of such a rule.

ASKS FOR INFORMATION.
Senator Allen of Nebraska Wants a Good Batch of Statistics.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—At the opening of the session of the senate yesterday Mr. Allen, the populist senator from Nebraska, introduced and asked for the immediate consideration of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury for information as to the total number of persons engaged in protected industries; the number of such persons whose wages are claimed to be effected by protection; the number whose wages are not affected; also the proportion of the population of the United States dependent upon the foreign market for the sale of their products; also the number of persons engaged in protected industries who are native citizens; the number naturalized and the number who are aliens; also the proportion of native or naturalized citizens who are being displaced by aliens. The resolution went over.

The tariff bill was taken up at noon. Mr. Aldrich's amendment placing a duty of 15 per cent on coal tar preparations not provided for in the bill was defeated.

Discussion arose over a report presented by Mr. Voorhees showing the revenue which would be raised under the bill as it passed the house and also as modified by the pending senate amendments based upon last year's importations.

Mr. Allison complained that the report presented by Mr. Voorhees was not an estimate at all. It was, he said, an exact computation of the revenue to be raised under a proposed bill based upon a former law.

The debate led to Mr. Vest making a charge that the republican senators were filibustering, which was denied from that side of the chamber.

ROW IN THE HOUSE.
Hopkins of Illinois Greatly Angers a Missouri Member.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Speaker Crisp was not in the chair when the house met yesterday, having been called away by the death of Mrs. Crisp's mother. In a letter he designated Mr. Dockery of Missouri as speaker pro tem.

After some unimportant business the naval appropriation bill came up and when paragraph relative to armor plate and armament was reached Mr. Meiklejohn offered an amendment providing for the appointment of a select committee of nine members with full power to investigate the alleged armor frauds by the Carnegie Steel company or Carnegie, Phelps & Co., and the assessments made against the company by the President. Mr. Cummings made a point of order against the amendment which the chair sustained.

The construction of three torpedo boats was authorized, and then the bill was passed.

During the debate on the agricultural appropriation bill Mr. Hopkins of Illinois accused Mr. Hatch of "juggling" salaries in the department of agriculture, when Hatch angrily retorted that he would not allow any such imputation on his action, and he assured Mr. Hopkins that if he had made any such remark outside the house he would have had the words rammed down his throat.

Mr. Hopkins was on his feet as soon as the words were out of Mr. Hatch's mouth. He declined to either withdraw or modify his words, and it was some time before the angry storm cloud rolled away from the horizon and the house adjourned.

MINERS BEGIN WITH A ROW.
Disagreeing Outlook at the Conference—Pittsburg Operators Barred Out.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 16.—The conference of the coal operators and miners opened late yesterday afternoon with a fight. A committee on credentials were appointed, and to it were referred the credentials of all the miners and operators who sought seats in the conference. The report of the committee aroused a stormy discussion. It favored the seating of all the miners and the operators from Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, and all of those from Pennsylvania who had expressed willingness to abide by the decision of the conference. The report, however, was against the seating of the ten Pittsburg operators who had declared that they would not abide by the decision of the majority. The Indiana operators were admitted on the understanding that they would abide by the decision of the conference. The conference was composed after the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials of 195 miners and 144 operators. Eighty-two of the operators are from Ohio, fifty-three from Pennsylvania, seven from Indiana, as a committee for all the operators in that state, and two from West Virginia. After the adoption of the report the conference adjourned until this morning, it being announced that the operators would hold a caucus in the evening.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 16.—It is given out at National Mining headquarters that if the Pennsylvania river and other operators spoil the Cleveland conference and no agreement be reached the national organization will make provision for a big strike fund to support the strikers at those mines until the river operators come to terms. Statistics for 1890 show the total tonnage of bituminous coal mined was 55,300,000 tons. A levy of 5 cents a ton on each ton for the strike fund would collect $4,760,000 a year, over $396,000 a month.

RESTIVE UNDER DICTATION.
Brazil Operators Threaten to Close the Mines for Two Years.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 16.—It seems that the miners' strike will not be alleviated in this locality, no matter what action is made by the convention at Cleveland, as the operators here say that they do not belong to the operators' union and will settle with their miners personally or not settle at all. The local operators say they will close their mines down for two years in preference to being dictated to by eastern operators.

CLEW TO INCENDIARY.
Proof That the Brooklyn Tabernacle Was Set on Fire.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The belief that the destruction of the Brooklyn Tabernacle was caused by an incendiary is growing to an almost absolute certainty in Brooklyn. Henry Browne, the organizer of the Tabernacle, said yesterday that he heard somebody moving about the organ pipes, where the fire started, while the service was in progress.

Another meeting of the trustees of the tabernacle was held last evening at the residence of Dr. Talmage. The statement was made that after a complete financial settlement there would still remain about $30,000 to the credit of the tabernacle fund. No definite action was taken concerning the rebuilding of the tabernacle.

Bloomington will probably get the next encampment without a contest, as the advocates of Quincy seem to have weakened since looking over the ground. Besides Quincy has already had the encampment, while Bloomington never had it. Louisville has the best wishes of every man here for the national encampment.

JOHN KELLY LOSES GREEN'S CHAMPION.

DIRECTUM, THE TROTTER WONDER, NOT HIS.

The Process by Which He Lost Him Was Somewhat Underhanded, and May Result in a Law Suit with His Owner—E. F. Carpenter's Pay Was Small.

Although John Kelly will have one of the best stables on the turf this season, the fates are against him.

Directum, the California wonder, with whom the Janesville man broke all the world's records, and made the other horsemen's eyes stick out like door knobs, will not be in his string, and upon this a lawsuit may hang. Before Mr. Kelly left Monroe Salisbury's employ, John Green, the owner of Directum, told Mr. Kelly that he could have the black wonder if he left Salisbury and when he did leave it was with that understanding. Mr. Green made all the arrangements to have his son manage the horses and to have Kelly drive. The Green horses included several new ones in addition to Directum and Kelly was to handle them in conjunction with the flyers of the DuBois Brothers of Denver, which stable he will campaign this summer. That was the way matters stood until a short time ago. Then a California turf paper came out with the announcement that Orrin Hickok was to have Directum.

Expected To Have the Champion. Kelly did not believe the rumor and wrote home that the story was probably false, as he thought Mr. Green would ship the horse to him according to their agreement. It was not to be, however, and Hickok will sit behind the champion. Directum's injury, the result of getting loose soon after Hickok got him is not at all serious.

Kelly's stable, although the black champion is not in it, is complete and includes some of the best ones on the turf the list being as follows:

W. W. P., 2:10 1/2 ch. g. pacer, by Ben Lomond Jr.

Yolo Maid, 2:12, b. m. pacer, by Alexander Buton.

Beulah (3), 2:14 1/2 ro. m. pacer, by Superior.

Betsy Cotton, 2:16 1/2 ro. m. by Jay Bird.

Electrician, 2:20 b. m. by Richard's Elector.

Elsie S., 2:21 1/2 ch. m. by Superior.

Jennie McCoy (3) 2:22, b. m. pacer, by Magnet.

Brilliant, 2:23, b. m. by Elector.

Ella O. (2), 2:26 1/2 br. m. by Declaration.

Mary Magdalene (3), 2:27 1/2 ch. m. by Superior.

They start from Denver and go to Council Bluffs, from there to Detroit and through the Grand Circuit, and will also attend the meeting at Fleetwood, park, New York.

Hickok is a "Crooked" Driver.

Perhaps the change will not be thoroughly satisfactory to Mr. Green. Don D. Donnan of the Chicago Inter Ocean is one of the best posted men who writes of horses and of Hickok he says:

"Hickok's ability as a reinsman and his reputation for integrity are both beyond dispute. In the former capacity he ranks with the best, and in the latter with the worst. It is just as well if the 'Talleyrand of the Turf' is to hold the reins that Directum's work should be confined largely to specials and exhibitions. If we were to have any races with possibility for the big play in the pool box the public would be safe only as long as long as Hickok could make the most money by winning. That he can condition and drive Directum as well or better than Kelly must be admitted, nevertheless the majority of horsemen will be sorry to see the former driver disposed."

The Inter Ocean continues the same article by saying that it had "been generally believed that arrangements had been completed for John Kelly to handle and campaign the champion. Such was certainly the understanding of Mr. Kelly himself, for under date of April 13 he wrote the Inter Ocean as follows:

"I hear from Directum every week or so, and never was finer than he is this spring. He will come here about the middle of May. I think he will reach close to the 2:00 mark this season."

Poor Pay For E. F. Carpenter.

Juries do not evidently hold the value of trotting horses very high, as the verdict in the suit of Edwin F. Carpenter against the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Company shows. For the probable permanent laming of Dan Phallamont, and Dolly H., all that Mr. Carpenter will get is $500. There were few horses that had the prospects that Dan Phallamont did. A young horse, with the breeding for speed, and with the speed that the breeding insured he was a promising animal. With horsemen the consideration of stamina and "bulldog sand" are as great as the speed itself for without these qualities the fast will lose to the slow as was illustrated in the somewhat famous race between the turtle and the hare. Dan Phallamont had showed his courage when courage was most needed. He got his record in one of the final heats of a red hot race at Washington Park, Chicago. He was in a class with game horses where the time was cut on each heat. The first two heats were taken consecutively by one horse and the next two fell to still another. Dan started out in eighth place and in each heat he crawled up a peg or two. In the fifth heat, and it was a bruising race, he came under the wire winner while everybody yelled with astonishment. The sixth heat was the same except that the time was faster and in the seventh Dan had the big purse won.

Lost the Race By Scratch.

He was several lengths ahead of them all when, within one hundred feet of the wire he stepped on his shoe, tore it off and left his feet. One of the other heat winners caught him then but the Janesville horse was only a neck behind even when handicapped by one bare foot and a bad break. Each heat that Dan went was faster than the preceding one and for such work as that he has a reputation, which from the horseman standpoint was the best quality that he could have. Dolly H. was hardly less promising and $500 is expected to pay in full for the injury to both. The horses were hurt near Eau Claire where Mr. Carpenter was taking them to race. After the car in which they were riding had been disabled, the trainmen hitched it into the train with a chain, which caused it to jolt about, and in that condition the car was pulled to its destination.

While the horse market is depressed, trotters with the stamina to improve their time in each succeeding heat of a hard race, are still worth as much money as they were in '93, which fact does not tend to make the jury's verdict in the case look any bigger.

LAPS AT THE DEPOT BOUND FOR ALASKA.

LOUD-SMELLING TRAVELERS ON THE "VESTIBULE."

Baggage Car Was Alive with Dogs, and the Trainmen Led a Miserable Life—Experiment of the Government with Reindeer—Colonists To Be Taught Stock Raising.

Sixteen Laplanders on their way to Alaska to teach Uncle Sam's colonists how to raise reindeer passed through Janesville last night on the vestibule. They were in charge of William Kjellman, a Norwegian carpenter about thirty-two years of age, who has resided in Madison for three years. With the Lapps were twelve dogs, who made the baggage car lively, and snapped and snarled at the railroad men.

Kjellman, through the influence of Professor E. B. Anderson of the state university, was deputized by the United States government to go to Lapland, secure five or six families of Laplanders and proceed with them to Port Clarence, Alaska. Some fishing is done at this point which is on the coast of a peninsula extending into Behring strait, but in the interior there are no industries, though the land is an ideal place for the breeding and raising of reindeer. It is to cultivate this industry and to teach the people of that locality the way in which to use and develop the reindeer the government is sending the Laplanders to this region.

Among the party were Isak L. Somley, his wife Berrelauna Somley, and some small Somleys; Peter Aslakson Rist, Frederick Larsen a fourteen-year old lad, who is the scholar of the party speaking Finnish and Norwegian, in addition to his own language; Aslak and Mathis A. Fife, and Mrs. Kjesto Kemi, with her infant, Karen Kemi, whom she carried in a portable cradle lined with furs. It was a very hot and stuffy looking contrivance and was carried strapped on the mother's back, as Indian squaws carry their papooses. Children made up the rest of the immigrant party.

The Lapps on their arrival in Madison were taken from the train to a hotel where they were quartered. They all occupied one room and slept on their furs, the beds having been removed. It is said that two of the younger members of the party will be united in marriage in Madison some time this week.

NOT ALTOGETHER HARMONIOUS

But the Choir Had All of the Modern Improvements.

The choir was singing a new arrangement of the beautiful anthem "Consider the Lilies." The pure, sweet voice of the soprano rose clearly and distinctly in the solo:

They toll-toll-toll not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-y-ther do they spin,
She paused, and the tenor took up the strain:

Nee-ee-ther do they spin,
They toll-toll-toll not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-y-ther do they spin.

The tenor ceased, and the basso, a solemn, red-haired young man, with a somewhat worldly looking eye and a voice like a fog horn, broke in:

Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin,
They toll-toll-toll not,
They toll not,
Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin.

Then the voices of the three ere lifted up in semi-chorus:

Ny-y-y-ther
Nee-ee-ee-ther
Nay-ay-ay-ther
do they spin.

They toll-toll-toll not,
They toll not,
Ny-y-y-ther
Nee-ee-ee-ther
Nay-ay-ay-ther
do they spin.

"Brethren," said the gray-haired, old fashioned pastor, when the choir had finished, "we will begin the service of the morning by singing the familiar hymn: 'And Am I Yet Alive?'"

JANESVILLE MEN SUSPECTED.

Two Firemen Stopped By The Officers Who Were Seeking Robbers.

The next time Thomas Abbott and J. C. McGinley of the fire department visit Edgerton they will be careful and have papers to show that they are not connected with the Jesse James gang. They were in Edgerton yesterday and several times were confronted by the officers, under suspicion of being the bank robbers. They were strangers to Edgerton people and the officers were halting every stranger in the place. Abbott and McGinley were walking around the town, and every citizen they met would report them as two suspicious looking strangers to the police, and the next thing they would be confronted for explanation.

"At first we had a little trouble in explaining our presence," said one of the boys, "but we soon found the marshal, and he was satisfied that a Janesville man would not leave the ladder behind him in such a place." The boys visited the bank and the room in which the robbers did their work, and say it was a very cleverly planned job. Had the thieves had time to "bow" the safe there would have been music by the band.

BOTH HIS ARMS TORN IN A CARDING MILL.

YOUNG CHARLIE SUMMERS IS TERRIBLY HURT.

Flesh Stripped From His Arms by the Swiftly-Moving Rolls—May Be Permanently Crippled by the Tearing Out of the Tendons—Intense Suffering.

Charles Summers had his arms stripped of flesh by a carding machine at the woolen mill yesterday afternoon. The boy is but fourteen years old. In some unexplainable manner both of his hands became caught in the cards, and before the machine could be stopped he had been drawn up to the elbows. As soon as he could be extricated from his terrible position he was conveyed to the office of Dr. Palmer, where his injuries were cared for. About one-quarter of the flesh was torn off both arms from the fingers to the elbows. The tendons were badly lacerated, both on the hands and arms, and the left elbow was torn open, although no bones were broken. The boy's sufferings were terrible, as both members were a mass of bleeding pulp. While no bones were broken, both arms, it is said by the attending surgeon, will be impaired, owing to the tendons being torn away. After the wounds were dressed the boy was taken to his home in Monterey.

Since I Have Known Thee.

The year for me has just begun,

And all is verdant fresh and sweet

No other year to me can bring

Joys so true, life so complete.

Since I met thee the year began

Tis spring, yet for summer I long.

Yes and fall and winter grand

My heart and soul are filled with song.

Since I have known thee not one sad

hour

Darkens my days or nights so dear

Like a pure unfolding flower

Thy beauty holds me ever near.

O, life, how rich and fair thou art

When love is blended in with thee

I realize at last dear heart

My sight was dim, but now I see.

SHE GOT HER BRIDAL KISS,

It Didn't Come Soon Enough, But Better Late Than Never.

Many guests at a fashionable church wedding in New York, a few days ago, were surprised when they saw the bridegroom stop near the door and kiss the bride. It was so marked a departure from the old rule of ending the wedding ceremony by a kiss that it caused a great deal of comment.

Very few of those who saw the interesting feature of what the bride regarded as an important part of the ceremony knew how it all came about. Hundreds of friends had watched the lovely girl as she moved gracefully toward the altar. After the ring which told that she was a bride had been placed on her finger the young bride looked lovingly toward the bridegroom. One could see she was ready to receive the bridal kiss.

But the bridegroom had apparently forgotten that part of the ceremony. He seemed interested only in getting out of the church and abruptly offered the young woman his arm. With a little pout of annoyance she placed her hand on his arm, and they started toward the church entrance.

The bride did not intend to leave the church without having obtained a bridal kiss, which to her seemed to be of as much importance in the ceremony as the words of the minister. When near the door she whispered something to the bridegroom which he, in his efforts to get beyond the gaze of the throng in the church, failed to understand.

"You did not give me a kiss," the bride repeated in a tone which caused her words to be heard by some of the guests near the door.

"I beg your pardon, but I forgot all about it," whispered the bridegroom, and right at the door he gave the bride the kiss she had expected to receive at the altar.

Then the bride, complete happiness having been restored by this rounding out of the marriage ceremony, walked gracefully out to the carriage and was driven away with a face wreathed in smiles.

She Fixed It.

At a late ball in Paris a very stout gentleman, proprietor of a bad catarrh and a very charming wife, insisted, very inconveniently at the close of a polka, that madame should return to the bosom of her family. "Never mind," she said to her partner; "ask me to dance in the next quadrille all the same—I will find a way to stay for it." Slipping out while the sets were forming, she went into the gentlemen's dressing-room, found her husband's hat, and threw it out of the window. Then returning, and requesting her spouse to first find his hat and call the carriage, she accepted partners for the next six dances, quite sure of two hours before the hat could be found.

Kossuth and His Mother.

One of the most painful trials of Kossuth's exile was his inability to be present at the deathbed of his mother. She lived in poverty in Brussels, and she expressed a desire to see her son once more before she died. The Belgian government of that day would not grant his request to visit her unless he consented to be accompanied wherever he went by an officer of police. He might have consented to this degrading condition, says one biographer, for her sake; but no sooner did his mother hear of it than she herself forbade him to come to her, and she expired in the last days of 1852, blessing him with her dying breath.

One Twin Voted for Both.

The boys were twins, both were voters, and they wanted to vote. But how to do it was the question. One of them was ill in bed and it was impossible to get out. The other went to the polls and voted. Then a happy idea struck him. He would go home, wait a brief spell, and then go back and vote for his brother. He did so, and the vote was taken and counted. Then he smiled at the way he fooled the board in Wilkesbarre, Pa. But it was not to be wondered at. The boys resemble each other as much as two peas, and it is almost impossible to separate them. Their man was elected, too, which increases their elation.

Wrote From Experience.

A friend of the late R. M. Ballantyne, the well-known author of boys' books of adventure, says he always got his material from first hands. His first story, "The Young Fur Traders," he wrote after spending six years in the wilderness of North America. He went to Algiers and wrote "The Pirate City;" he spent a couple of weeks in the North sea with the deep-sea fishermen, and wrote "The Young Trawler;" he sat up for a fortnight or so with the London firemen and went out in costume to a fire almost every night, and then produced "Fighting the Flames."

The Entering Wedge.

The Abbe Faure, who died recently, has left behind him some interesting reminiscences of his experience of criminals condemned to death at La Roquette prison, where he was for many years chaplain. His method of ingratiating himself with criminals in order to try and get them to accept his religious ministrations was to begin by offering them tobacco, and to go with a pack of cards and offer to play a quiet little game of piquet with them.

Lack of Realism in Marble Angels.

The sculptors who delight in carrying out full grown angels put little wings on them that would not support a big bird. The spread of the wing should be proportionate to size and weight. A body weighing 200 pounds should have a spread of wing thirty-six feet. The width of the wing should be about one-sixth the spread across.

The new Vanderbilt houses are expressly fortified against anarchists. Hot water and rifles are provided in convenient places, ready for a garrison of servants to keep a mob at bay.

The possession of a genuine Murillo, representing the deathbed of St. Joseph, is claimed by Dr. John J. Caldwell of Baltimore. It is said to have been painted in 1610 for one of the churches of Cadiz.

A Florida physician, while dissecting a monster alligator, found a gold watch chain in its stomach. He does not undertake to say what had become of the watch or of the human skeleton that must have been swallowed with it.

By the explosion of powder with which two inventors at Frederick, Md., were experimenting, one of them, who had a full beard, was as closely shaven as though the barber had run the clippers through his whiskers.

There was once a man in Washington who, through bad habits, lost every faculty he ever possessed except the ability to write shorthand. That he retained and continued to make money as fast as he could drink it up by reporting debates.

Koch's tuberculin is now admitted by scientists to be a valuable diagnostic agent for the determination of tuberculosis in cows, but, it is said, no records have been made so far to show that these animals are free from the disease after inoculation.

The inventors in St. Petersburg are asking the Russian government for patents on glass coffins. The two parts of the coffin box and cover are wholly made of glass, which by means of a specially prepared glue of lacquer can be hermetically sealed. A net of wire secures the coffin against breakage, and the price of the article does not exceed that of a wooden one.

DRAWN BY THE TRUST.

Nobody has heard the sugar trust denouncing the "amended" tariff bill. In the bill in the revised version the trust is given a monopoly of the market which can not be shaken.

Ever since the present tariff law went into operation the country has been having cheap sugar, but if the schedule agreed upon by the senate democrats is passed this article of necessity will be materially increased in price without any possibility of outside competition to reduce rates. The trust was compelled to keep prices at a reasonable figure in the past three years by the low rate of duty, which would let in foreign sugar if extortionate prices were charged, but the senate proposes to raise this barrier so high that the combine will be able to safely levy a much greater rate of tribute on the people.

The evidence that the officials of the trust framed the sugar schedule is complete and decisive. The trust framed the sugar provision of the Mills bill of 1888, and this revelation contributed something toward the democratic defeat that year. The trust had an equal hand in the arranging of the sugar schedule in the bill of 1894 and democratic congressional candidates will be reminded of this at the polls this fall.

CAN'T AFFORD IT.

Not for thirty-five years have Rock county people seen six hundred pieces of land sold for taxes. Another democratic president was in power then, and a democratic tariff law was in operation. The lesson taught in those dark days lasted a third of a century, and the lesson the country is having to-day should last just as long. Once in thirty-five years is about as often as we can afford such luxuries as democratic rule.

If the tariff bill were either enacted or defeated there would be a recovery from depression that would tell plainer than words how much democratic tinkering has contributed to hard times.

Cleveland and Lord Roseberry have very much the same kind of times in managing their forces. Gladstone's majority of their forty has dwindled to six under the leadership of Roseberry.

There is little doubt that Main street will be paved this summer. By circulating a petition Alderman Winslow is merely bringing to a head the sentiment that has long existed.

As a means of developing the gambling habit, "nickle-in-the-slot" machines have no equal. Chief Acheson will be fully endorsed for ordering the machines taken out.

Say She Killed Her Husband.

BRENNHAM, TEXAS, May 16.—Near Wesley, Washington county, John Bennon was poisoned by eating bacon and greens set before him by his wife. He died. His ante-mortem statement and evidence adduced at the inquest resulted in the arrest of the wife.

Nominated for Congress.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 16.—Congressman John Dalzell and William A. Stone have been renominated without opposition for congress by the conventions of the Twenty-second and Twenty-third districts respectively.

Chairman Wilson Warmly Welcomed.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The entrance of Chairman Wilson of the ways and means committee into the house yesterday for the first time after his long illness was the signal for a spontaneous outburst of applause. In an instant business was suspended and members flocked around the West Virginian to welcome him back to congress and congratulate him on his recovery.

Populists Nominate Corey for Congress.

CANTON, Ohio, May 16.—J. S. Corey, the originator of the commonweal, was nominated here yesterday by the populists for congress from the Eighteenth district.

MAY PARTY WILL BE LARGE.

Delegations Here From Rockford, Madison Beloit and Waukesha.

The May party to be given by the retail salesmen to-morrow evening promises to be one of the largest parties of the season. Five hundred invitations have been sent out in Janesville and surrounding towns. Delegations from Waukesha, Beloit, Rockford and Madison will be here. The committee have made arrangements with the Linn Street Green house for the most elegant display of flowers that were ever made in the city. Mirrors and curtains have been furnished by the local dealers, and the decorations for the occasion will be the finest ever in the Armory. Music will be furnished by Smith's full orchestra.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Governor Tillman.

Benjamin R. Tillman, governor of South Carolina, was elected by the farmers as an opponent of the old regular Democratic band who had always held the offices and ruled the state. He was unknown in politics till 1885, when he began a successful crusade for the reformation of the agricultural department of the state. Governor Tillman is not a man of imposing appearance, though he is nearly 6 feet tall. One of his shoulders droops somewhat, and as the result of an accident in his boyhood he has but one eye. He is a very impressive speaker, however.

JIBES AND JESTS.

Teacher—What is a right angle?
 Boy—Two straight lines around a corner.

"Does Flagson practice what he preaches?" "Great Caesar! No; he never gets through preaching."

"There are several young men in the car," remarked Mrs. Holdstrap, "but they can hardly be classed among the rising generation."

Actor—When I am acting I forget everything about me; I see nothing but my role; the public disappears entirely. Friend—I don't wonder at that.

"Is Tompkins henpecked?" "Is he?" exclaimed Potts. "I should say he is. He doesn't even dare to claim a full proprietary interest in his own rheumatism."

Charles—What did you mean when you told your father just now that there was only one thing you liked better than work? Thomas—Loafing, of course.

Teacher—Who was the first man?
 First Boy—George Washington.
 Teacher—Next. Second Boy—Adam.
 First Boy, indignantly—I didn't know you meant foreigners.

"Who is the 'Co.' in your firm?" asked Smasher of his friend the grocer. "My wife." Ah, she's a silent partner, is she? The grocer rubbed his chin for a moment. "Well," he replied, in some doubt, "she ain't so all-fired silent, when you come to think of it."

Auntie—Does your new doll close its eyes? Little Ethel—Yes'm, but she is the most wakeful child I ever saw. She doesn't shut her eyes when I lay her down, as she ought to. The only way to make her go to sleep is to stand her on her head and shake her."

"If women got into congress," said Young Woodby Witte, every one of them would want the last word."
 "Possibly," replied Mrs. Pepperton, "but I don't think they could be any longer in getting around to it than some of the gentlemen who are now trying to make our laws."

CURES OTHERS

For Severe, Lingering Coughs, Weak Lungs, Bleeding from Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption, in its early stages, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a sovereign remedy. It not only cures the cough but also builds up the strength and flesh of those reduced below a healthy standard by "Wasting Diseases." Will not make fat folks more corpulent.

B. F. WILEY, of Boz Elder, Converse Co. Wyo., writes: "I had bronchitis for twenty years and over, and I could not work without coughing so hard as to take all my strength away. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and give you my word and honor that I can do any work that there is to do on my 'ranch' without coughing. I have not taken any of the Golden Medical Discovery for a year."

MR. WILEY.

SAID IN JEST.

Husband—Does that new novel turn out happily? Wife—It doesn't say. It only says they were married.

"The doctor says, I need change." "Dr. Bigphoe, I suppose. Well, you'll need more before he gets through with you."

Attorney—I'm not asking you for your office address. Where is your home? Conscientious Witness—I haven't any home. I reside in a suburban flat.

Mr. Blinks—Here's a $20 millinery bill I've just paid, another instance that a fool and his money soon part. Mrs. Blinks—I know, dear, but just think how fortunate it is that you are one of those who have money.

Mrs. Twitter, listening to phonograph—It's just like having your husband here at home, isn't it? Wife—Mercy, no; it needs an attachment to smoke, growl about the dinner, lose a hat, kick the dog and swear to make it perfect.

Small Boy, to grocer—If you please, Mr. Welby, my mother wants to know if you will give her an almanac? Grocer, leaning over the counter—But, my little man, your mother does not get her groceries here. Small Boy—No, Mr. Welby, but we borrow your wheelbarrow.

Young Wife—The minister wants every woman in the congregation to earn something for the church by her own labor, and I don't know what in the world to do. Husband—You spoke about needing a new dress and—Wife—Oh, yes, I never thought of that. I'll get the dressmaker to pay me so much an hour while I'm being fitted, and then she can charge it in the bill.

UNCLE SAM'S FARM.

Of every 100 miles of railway in the world forty-one are in the United States.

By a conservative estimate the United States will have a population of 373,000,000 in 1900.

The various farmers' organizations in this country have a combined membership of over 3,000,000.

The agricultural resources of the United States are equal to supporting a population of 1,000,000,000.

The American Federation of Labor has over 6,000 local unions and an aggregate membership of 675,000.

Italy, Greece and Palestine might all be gathered in California, and then leave ample room for a fair-sized kingdom.

All Europe, including the vast plains of Russia, may be laid down within the boundaries of the United States.

If Texas were laid down on Europe, it might be so placed as to include the capitals of England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Austria and Germany.

The people of the United States send several million more telegrams a year than the French, Germans, Austrians, Russians, Italians and Spaniards combined.

Europe in Danger.

Europe is a-tremble. The nations hold their breath. Wars of succession and the more recent interchange of dynamite amenities are all forgotten before the common, overwhelming danger. For the dread republic of Andorra, which lies upon the border of the two great neighboring nations of Spain and France, has bought a gun, and the first time the gun is fired one of the two great neighboring nations will be hit. It is a Krupp gun, carrying twenty miles, and the territory of Andorra is but seven miles in extent. Hence the watchful eye of diplomacy closes not in sleep, and ceaseless prayers go up that the charge may be a blank one or that some intervening Pyrene may stop the shot and so avert an international disaster.

Hard Lines.

"Think of a man doing time for picking a pocket that the lady hadn't got," said John Delappe in a tone of intense disgust as he received a sentence of six months' hard labor. At Victoria station he selected the alleged pocket of a lady as his prey, and followed its supposed proprietress with assiduity. At last he swooped down upon his booty, and just as he found out that the lady's dress contained no pocket at all, a railway constable, who had watched his movements, swooped down upon him and took him into custody.

Fools Not All Dead Yet.

Jack Danham was a Louisville drunkard who five years ago fell under the influence of a reformer and sobered up. Since then he has worked steadily and soberly. The other day practical jokers filled his coffee can with liquor. He drank it, his old appetite returned and now he is wallowing in the gutter again.

A REVENGEFUL MAN.

He Has It Out With the Conductor, Whom He Hated.

A young man wearing a red necktie and a new suit boarded a yellow car at the Kansas City postoffice. He glided gracefully into a seat and held just buried his face in a paper when the conductor touched him on the shoulder and held out his hand for the fare.

The young man fumbled through his pockets while the conductor still held out his hand expectantly. As he turned his last pocket inside out he turned red as he remarked:

"I will have to walk, I guess; I can't find any money."

"Never mind," said a small man with a ragged beard and rusty hat, "here's a nickel."

The conductor took the money, rang the bell and went out on the platform.

"It was very kind of you, I am sure," said the young man. "Where can I find you to-morrow to repay your kindness?"

"You needn't bother yourself about that," said the little man. "I was actuated by a selfish motive."

"A selfish motive? What was it, pray?"

"I wanted revenge upon the conductor. That nickel was a lead nickel. When he turns in his cash at the end of the run it will be detected and he will have to make it good. He lives next door to me, and kicked my dog last week."

Fontainebleau Forest.

This grand old forest of Fontainebleau is everywhere very beautiful, and far from being monotonous in character and simply a forest of trees, it has a great variety of other natural beauties. Certain parts contain rocky hills, enriched here and there by thick heath growing on a sandy soil. In places one sees great heaps of rocks of sandstone formation piled one above the other on the slope of the hills, as if large masses of water formerly had rushed through all this country, loosening the immense rocks, and heaping them one upon the other. One peculiarity of these rocks is that many of them are formed like great living monsters. When we went into the forest toward nightfall Francois was always deeply moved. It seemed to him as though we were amid a crowd of antediluvian monsters, and he enjoyed pointing out to me the semblance to living forms of these mysterious shapes—Pierre Millet, in the Century.

The late Professor Billroth of Vienna attained his greatest fame in 1881, when he performed for the first time with success the excision of the pyloric end of the stomach for cancer. This achievement made his reputation world wide. His long military service made him somewhat of a martinet in his clinic, where the strictest discipline prevailed, but his pupils revered if they did not love him. For the ten years preceding his death he ranked as the first surgeon of Europe.

THE RESULT ## OF AN AMERICAN WOMAN'S WORK.

Not An Assertion, But a Truth, Proven by the Accumulated Testimony of 20 Years.

HERE'S a reason for it, when a special remedy for a special disease maintains the first place in the faith of the people for twenty years; when, year after year, the confidence given cannot be shaken; when one woman's name is known throughout the civilized world; when letters by the thousands come by every mail from all parts of the earth in gratitude and praise; when druggists place this remedy first on the list of standard remedies.

Then there is a reason for it. Lydia E. Pinkham and her wonderful Vegetable Compound, deserve the first place in the hearts of woman-kind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more women from all disease arising from irregularity and derangement of the uterus and womb than any remedy known to medical science.

Are you suffering? then profit by the experience of this thankful woman:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham,—Last winter I did not think my little ones would have a mother long. I suffered terribly with female troubles.

I could keep nothing on my stomach, and got so "poor" my friends hardly knew me. I suffered with severe headaches, dizziness, faintness, backache, and the blues.

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am now as fat as ever, and have no female troubles.

If you use my letter I hope it may be the means of saving some other poor mother's life as it did mine.—Mrs. E.L.A. VAN BUREN, St. David, Fulton Co., Ill.

Our Original Troy Pound.

In 1828, when Adams was president of the United States, congress authorized or appointed a commission "to bring to this country a troy pound adjusted to the British standard." When the commission returned the president received the package and broke the seal in the presence of the distinguished men of America. This original weight standard is now in the mint at Philadelphia, and is not regarded as being of ideal accuracy by any means. It is made of a very poor quality of brass, is rough in texture and hollow. According to a law now in force, each state is entitled to a copy or duplicate of this standard.
